BY MRS. ROBERT CANNON

SINCE THIS IS EASTER WEEK it seems only appropriate to start our column by congratulating a man who bears that name. Colonel Robert Easter, son of "Miss Eva," newly promoted to that rank and doing a fine job we are sure, was mentioned in all the district newspapers last week. We add our plaudits to those already given.

quite busy last week. Rachel's mother, Mrs. Nichols of Enterprise, was in a Columbus hospital while Rachel's mother-in-law, Mrs. Cook, was in an Enterprise hospital. Both ladies are in their respective homes now and things are settling back to normal. Mac had a wonderful excuse to stay at home with young Shemie, while Rachel was in Columbus.

ENTERTAINMENT news last week was all about "Peyton Place." Although we missed the movie, hearing all the different reactions to it has been fun far more interesting than anything on celluloid could possibly be. Since the story is supposed to be an expose of small town life, all of us are indirectly involved.

WAS NICE to see the Frank Youngs again even though the occasion of their visit was such a sad one. Talked to Gini and she reported that to miss the two children were fine and full of ginger. Sam Young was also here from Waco, Texas.

BIRTHDAYS are such fun and we are always intrigued by any hostess novel brought to the decoration. Thought Mini Powell handled the party for diminutive Dottie quite nicely.

Dottie was one year old on a pretty March afternoon and the neighborhood children came to make the day a special one. The pretty cake was surrounded by plastic Easter bunnies bearing large suckers who marched straight into the eager little hands held out to them. Balloons of all colors were tied to the light fixture and later given to each child. After refreshments everyone under four years of age went outside to play, and we Mamas had cake and coffee. It was a nice affair.

ALL COMMODITY PRICE INDEX IS UP IN ALABAMA

The All Commodity index of prices received by Alabama farmers rose 3 per cent (11 points) from mid-February. When compared to March of last year, this index is 4 per cent (11 points) higher. The All Crops index, at 247 percent of its 1910-14 base, moved ahead for a 2 per cent (10 point) increase from mid-February and is presently 4 per cent (11 points) higher than in March of last year.

Meat Annuals
The meat animal index, at its highest level since 1932, increased 7 per cent (26 points) from mid-February and is 32 per cent (60 points) higher than in March of last year. The index registered 375 percent of its 1910-14 base as beef cattle, calves, sheep and hogs showed substantial price gains. Lamb prices were unchanged from last month.

Chickens and Eggs
Commercial broiler and egg prices showed slight gains from last month as turkey and farm chickens held steady. The index moved up 3 per cent (5 points) from last month and is 19 per cent (30 points) higher than in March of last year.

Dairy Products
Retail milk prices showed no change, but wholesale milk and butterfat prices suffered a slight decline from last month. As a result, the index dropped 1 per cent (3 points) from mid-February. However, the index is now 3 per cent (13 points) higher than a year earlier.

Grains and Hay
The grains and hay index advanced moderately from last month as baled hay enjoyed the strongest price gains. Corn and wheat prices also moved forward, but oat prices were the same as in mid-February.

Cotton
As prices received for cotton lint advanced from 31 cents in mid-February to 32 cents per pound in mid-March, the index moved up from 297 to 295 percent of its base. This index, when compared to March of last year, is 3 per cent (7 points) lower.

EATING HABITS CHANGE; SO DO NEEDED CROPS

AUBURN—Changes in eating habits of Americans have brought about marked differences in the production pattern of vegetables.

According to API Extension Horticulturist John Bagby, increased use of vegetable used raw in salads, primarily lettuce, tomatoes, celery, cucumbers, bell peppers, escarole, and endive, has accounted for an increase of 50 per cent exportation of these crops since 1940.

During this period, production of vegetables which usually require cooking increased by about 10 per cent.

During the last 18 years production of lettuce has doubled. Celery, cucumber, and bell pepper production has increased nearly 50 per cent; and tomato production has gone up 20 per cent. Total output of fresh vegetables that usually require cooking rose sharply during World War II, but has steadily declined since 1945.

"While consumption of fresh lima beans, snap beans, beets, Brussels sprouts, and spinach has decreased," the garden specialist went on, "production of these crops for processing has risen. A larger output of frozen vegetables accounts for much of this increase; further evidence that American consumers want products which require little preparation for use."

"Lower per capita consumption of Irish and sweet potatoes is another trend of importance to farmers. Irish potato acreage has been reduced somewhat, but increased yields have kept production about the same. However, acreage and production have steadily decreased since 1945.

"Alabama producers would be smart to take notice of changes in consumer demands for vegetables and plan their production to provide markets with products that are in greatest demand."

Country Living Is Better Than Ever
AUBURN—In 1941, an average farm family spent only $155 for medical care. Fourteen years later, 1955, this expenditure had risen to $235.

On the basis of amount spent, this represents the greatest gain in farm living standards, according to a report released recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The Institute of Home Economics. It was in the medical expenses category, too, that farm families approached the closest to city levels of spending.

Here are some other comparisons made in the report. In 1940, only 33 per cent of farm households had electricity; 18 per cent had piped running water; and 15 per cent had mechanical refrigerators. By 1955, these per cents had risen to 94 for electricity, 64 for piped running water, and 50 for mechanical refrigerators.

2 OUNCES MORE OF MILK - WHAT A DIFFERENCE
AUBURN—If every person in the U.S. drank two ounces more fresh milk per day, there would be a shortage of milk instead of a surplus.

This would mean that farm income would be increased and the government's expenditures for farm price supports lessened, reports A. W. Jones, API Extension marketing specialist. "When the nation's milk supply runs ahead of the demand for fluid milk, the surplus goes into manufactured products such as powdered milk, butter, and cheese," explains the specialist. "As these commodities exceed demand, the federal government purchases quantities of them.

"If this surplus were consumed as fluid milk, and the consumption of two ounces more per person per day would eliminate the surplus, the dairy farmer's income would be increased, for he gets a higher price for milk used in fluid form than for milk that goes into manufactured dairy products.

Almost half of the nation's milk supply is now consumed as fresh fluid milk," Jones concluded.

Trees can be mighty useful to farmers living in real sandy areas. Seems like tree belts fit well into the soil bank conservation plans and also cut wind erosion.

Heard from one of them university professors who says that a combination of bromegrass and alfalfa between rows of trees can help "firm up" sandy soil enough to allow a little cultivating and alfalfa seeding.

One farmer down in the sand country is taking the advice. He's planning to plant strips of cedar, green ash, and Chinese elm on a portion of his soil bank land.

Trees will be spaced at intervals of 20 rods. He'll seed bromegrass between the trees and eventually plant alfalfa.

Just seems no end to the uses for trees on a farm!

Well, it's a keep gentle reports from all parts that we're sure winning the overall battle with forest fires.

Alabama reports setting a record for control over forest fires in 1956. Seems like 6,187 wild fires burned a total of 143,729 acres of the 192,000 acres of woodland, about 0.72 per cent of the total.

Up in the big timber territories owned by member companies of the Southern Lumber Forestry Protection Association only two acres were burned over last year compared to 8,249 in 1955. Can't you do admit they had an unusually wet summer, but still an all mighty fine work!

DOVES MAY BE ATTRACTED BY POPCORN CROP
AUBURN—Hunters looking forward to more of the good dove shooting they had last year need to take definite preparatory measures right away.

According to API Extension Field and Wildlife Specialist Earl Kennamer, one contributing factor in last year's abundant dove hunting was the tremendous corn and small grain program in Alabama and elsewhere. However, smaller Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation acre allotments this year may result in a 10 per cent reduction of the corn which could be cut over more "seed corn" for doves, if unfavorable weather strikes.

For this reason, Kennamer suggests that popcorn may be a solution to the possible shortage of small grains necessary to high production of the seed-eating birds. He pointed out that popcorn is not affected by ASC allotments. What's more, doves may actually prefer popcorn because of the "magic" grains.

The wildlife specialist reminds interested hunters that hybrid varieties will give higher yields than the older, open-pollinated varieties, and that plans for hunting should be made soon.

Kennamer advises farmers to see their county agents for details on popcorn growing, recommendations for planting, and tips on cultivating.

HARMFUL BUGS ENTER HOUSES VIA FIREWOOD
AUBURN—Houses containing firewood have an entrance for insects unknown to many homeowners.

For bugs abiding in firewood may evacuate the wood while it is stacked in the house for burning, warns API Extension Forester Ivan R. Martin.

"Injurious warm-blooded insects which have been hibernating in wood," explains the specialist, "so there have been reports this winter of termites, ants, wood-boring beetles, spiders, and various emerging insects from firewood stacks or other indoor locations where wood is stored."

"Ordinarily, it is unlikely that the pests can become established in a home," declared Martin. "They may be temporary nuisances, but will probably not survive long. There is a hazard, though, in storing insect-infested wood for any length of time in the house or on the porch. It's best to bring wood inside just a few days before use."

"Most kinds of termites may have contact with the ground to obtain moisture with which to survive. Unless wood is stored on a dirt floor in a basement, stacked high against the side of the house, or placed in a garage that is not sealed off from the ground, there usually is no trouble with these pests.

"If you have a woodbox or any other indoor storage place for firewood, spraying the inside of the box with DDT or another household insecticide may help cut down on insect nuisances. Spraying is not recommended for the firewood itself, however."

CHICKS UP
The Alabama Crop and Livestock Reporting Service announced that plumbers with broiler chickens with Alabama producers during the week of March 22-29 totalled 2,584,000, up 66 per cent from the previous week and up 16 per cent from the corresponding period a year ago. The total live broiler chickens was 2,139,000.

BOOK COMPILED TO HELP KIN OF MENTALLY ILL
It may never be a best seller, but "Mental Illness: A Guide to the Family" will no doubt become one of the best read booklets ever published.

Already the Alabama Association for Mental Health, co-operating with the State's mental hospitals, is sending out from 15 to 25 copies a week of Author Edith Stern's practical guidebook on mental illness.

Sent on Request
The booklets are being sent to those who have requested them because of mental illness in the family. Free distribution of the publication is made possible through voluntary contributions to the work of local and state mental health associations and the National Association for Mental Health.

The guidebook deals with the problems and tensions arising when mental illness strikes. The author, in explaining how she happened to write the book says:

"There were books about how to run a household and how to bring up kids, but there was no book telling people how to behave and what to do when one of their dear ones falls mentally ill. This guidebook for relatives I hoped would fill that need."

Miss Stern relates that there is much unnecessary suffering for both relatives and patients when mental illness strikes in any form because most people are so unprepared and unaided. She says the most important thing for the patient's chance of recovery and for the relative's peace of mind is to realize that mental illnesses are like any other illnesses.

Case you have accepted the essentially simple fact that you are dealing with someone who is sick, says Miss Stern, you will stop being exasperated and anguished by his seemingly unreasonable actions.

She notes, too, that relatives will spare themselves much self-torture and help speed their loved one along the road to mental health if they realize that no more stigma should be attached to a "disordered" and then to disordered circulation.

"This material and others dealing with down-to-earth practical facts are contained in the 95 page guidebook. There is even a section devoted to the terms relatives may hear used in connection with the patient or the hospital.

Additional information on the booklet may be obtained by writing the Alabama Association for Mental Health, P. O. Box 3283, Birmingham.

SOVIETS SEEN AHEAD OF U.S. IN COLD WAR
NEW YORK—The Soviet Union was pictured today as running neck and neck with the United States in some important phases of "Cold War" competition, and in others actually outdistancing us.

The documenting opinions were expressed by five experts whose originally confidential briefing papers were made public today by the Committee for Economic Development (CED). Gardner Cowles, Chairman of CED's Information Committee, said the papers were cleared with their authors and published in book form "in response to many requests."

The five papers, plus an address by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, and one by William C. Foster, a CED trustee who was formerly Deputy Secretary of Defense and co-chairman of the so-called Gaither Committee, were published by Doubleday under the title, "Soviet Progress Versus American Enterprise."

The authors of the five papers, are Presidential Adviser Clarence B. Randall; Edward L. Allen, Director of Economic Research for the Central Intelligence Agency; Professor J. Sterling Livingston of the Harvard Business School; Professor Jerome Wiesner of Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Professor Warren W. Eaton of Princeton.

U. S. SECURITY PAYMENTS CAN HELP FARMERS
AUBURN—Many young, self-employed farm operators have the option that old-age and survivors' insurance programs under social security offer no particular advantages to them since they're a long way from 65 years old.

This age (62 for women) is the earliest date that old-age insurance payments can be received. But the federal social security system is just as important to the young self-employed farmer as it is to the older farmer.

Here's why, according to API Extension Farm Economist Foy Helms. By filing a report of his self-employment farm income which is required by law of the net income is at least $400 in a year, and paying the social security tax due on these earnings, the farmer guarantees monthly payments to his family if he should die while insured under social security. This means that regardless of the farmer's age at death, his widow and children will receive between $50 and $200 a month. One and a half years of work under social security out of the three years prior to death is sufficient to provide an insured status, said Helms.

Life insurance is a lifetime purchase, so know what you buy and get the biggest value. Read your insurance policy carefully. If there is any part of it you do not understand, ask the company's representative to explain it to you fully. Your insurance company is eager to have its policyholders know exactly what they are getting. Moreover, you are not obliged to accept a policy until you have made the first premium payment.

The rate of industrial growth in the South during the past 20 years has led the nation. The pulp and paper industry is a leader in this Southern progress.

Sixty-three primary pulp and paper mills are located in Dixie. They employ over 77,000 persons in the woods, mills and offices. Another 81,000 harvest pulpwood.

The pulp and paper industry annually contributes over one billion dollars to the South's economy at the rate of three million dollars a day. It also is giving new impetus to the region's agriculture because pulpwood has become a vitally important new cash crop to Southern farmers.

Farmers and other landowners are assured an expanding market for their trees since paper consumption is growing by leaps and bounds each year. It is predicted that 50 to 60 percent more pulpwood will be needed by 1967.

Growing trees—like growing any other crop—requires sound management. Forests that are cut properly go on producing trees generation after generation. Forests that are now non-productive can be converted into money-making areas.

PULP AND PAPER DAY—April 15
Pulp and Paper Day will be celebrated throughout the South on April 15. This event will focus public attention on the economic importance to the region of the pulp and paper industry, its role in the South's modern agricultural development... and the tremendous economic opportunities more productive forests offer in the years ahead.

4-H NEWS Round-up

BY TOM CASADAY • ASSISTANT COUNTY AGENT

The Weed Control demonstration beginning in this month's boys 4-H Club meetings is going over good. The boys are interested in learning how to control weeds in the pastures; and local leaders and principals are interested in the school grounds and their lawns.

162 WIDOWS OF WAR IN STATES SURVIVE HERE

In this 4-H Annual, age of widows, towns with a long span of control and a little more than a century ago, there was a gentle reminder to the last Legislature of a war of over 50 years ago. An update senator thought that, even in the year of 1955-56 these ladies with their memories of heroes of a now bygone had numbered 175.

Each month these Confederate widows receive their $100 checks from the State Department of Pensions and Security, as required by law.

"What is the age of these widows?" an official was asked.

Retreating to a pre-war strategic position, he replied, "Let's remember it's a little dangerous to discuss a lady's age. The law has been changed a bit from time to time, and besides some of these fine veterans of that War married some pretty young women in their day."

"THE SECRET OF SUCCESS IS CONSTANT CY TO PURPOSE"

Ancient documents, written about 3,000 years before the birth of Christ, tell of pharmacists supplying medicines and health-aids to the sick. Throughout the ages, pharmacists have been constantly engaged in this worthwhile task.

Today our pharmacy is a health station awaiting your need and ready to serve you. Here you can get the answers to many health problems. Particularly, do we invite all young people interested in a possible career in pharmacy to stop in and ask any questions.

GI INSURANCE DIVIDEND WILL BE PAID SOON

A special dividend of $32 million will be paid between mid-April and mid-May to policyholders of US Government Life Insurance (World War I) in addition to the regular annual dividend of $262 million already declared for 1954.

We're showing the boys how to use 240 in controlling bit-terness. Louie Manning of the Farmers Exchange loaned us a sprayer and some of the materials to use. So we think this demonstration, which will help us get started here in Coffee County on Chemical Control.

Coffee County farmers spend a lot of money for tractors and equipment each year, and still a lot more money is spent for repairs. A few farmers drain the oil and forget to refill. Others drain water and forget to put more in before they use it. But the greatest damage done is through failure to do the day-to-day and week-to-week servicing.

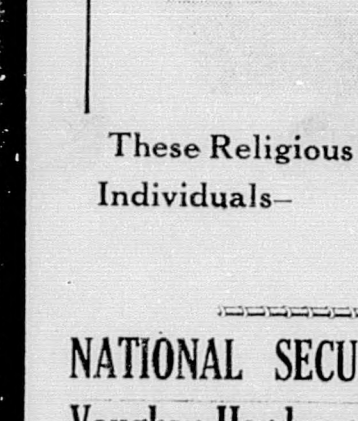

About 70 boys in the County have tractor maintenance products as part of their 4-H Club work. Zion Chapel Junior boys who especially interested in tractors are: Buddy Ruge, Johnny McWaters, Quinton Simmons, Cornelius Stevens, Robert Jirault, Marion Fuller, Roy Brunson and Jerry Owens.

I'm enjoying the Club meetings this month. About the time the boys and I finish Mrs. Hutchinson and the girls are taking the freshly baked oatmeal cookies from the oven. I don't think I've ever tasted anything better than those cookies before. Learning to bake in all the girls club this month. Someone said the reason I enjoyed them so was because it was almost lunch time but I disagree. I'm sure they would be good morning, noon and in-between times.

4-H Essay Contest

Several 4-H Boys and Girls will get good training and good experience in the 4-H essay and public speaking contest on Farmer Cooperatives this spring. We've made plans to hold the County elimination contest May 31. Reference material is being prepared and will be placed in the school libraries for the clubsters to use. Excellent prizes are being made up for the county contest. The district contest will be held in Troy in June, and the winning boy and girl will get a week's trip to the University Institute of Cooperation to be held at Pennsylvania State College this summer. Sara Hutchinson and I hope a lot of the Senior boys and girls will enter the contest.

Don't put off washing slipcovers until they are badly soiled. Dirt, dust, perspiration, and even oil from a person's hands tend to weaken the fabric. To make slipcovers dry smooth and tight, adjust them on the furniture while they are still damp. If the furniture is upholstered in colorfast fabric.

It takes time to persuade men to do even what they should do for their own good.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country.

gomy VA Regional Office, said today.

To avoid delays in processing these automatic dividend payments, Smith requested participating policyholders not to make inquiry in advance of special dividend payment.

The payment of these two dividends from mid-April to mid-May will make $54 million available to policyholders for that month. For the remainder of the year, only the $22 million regular dividend will be paid monthly.

Smith said approximately 325,000 permanent plan USGI policyholders will share in the $32 million special dividend. Approximately 44,000 policies will be excluded, including 19,000 five-year term, 8,000 extended term and 17,000 other policies for which permanent and total disability payments are being deducted from the face value of the policies.

USGI policyholders who are drawing disability payments under a special rider for which they are paying extra premiums will not be excluded from the special dividend.
